

Basic Rug Hooking for Beginners with Michele Wise Saturday, September 30, 2017. Skagit College, San Juan

Join Michele for this introduction to the stress free art of Rug Hooking and develop a new passion! Michele will guide you in learning the basics, and the workshop will cover information about equipment, supplies, and techniques. Students will make a small mat which can be framed, used as a trivet, or many other possibilities. You will also learn how to hook and finish the mat. There will a variety of designs to choose from.

Materials fee: $60

Michele will come to us from Seabeck, WA and is a certified McGown Rug Hooking Teacher. As a retired high school teacher, she is now using her skills to teach rug hooking and fiber art on an international level. She has written for many fiber magazines and her work is featured in many private collections. She teaches the McGown technique to other teachers, is the director for two fiber retreats, and serves as the co-director of the Puget Sound Rug School.

Workshop fee: $50-$60 ($30 deposit required)
